

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE:

The process that has been invented combines a flow of air through an orifice with the metering of a low volume of additive, such as an aid to preservation, to a crop as it is being harvested to provide for even distribution of the additive to the crop.